M. E. CONFERENCE

BRIEF SUMMARY OF IMPORTANT WORK DONE—GLENDALE PASTORS RETURNED

The M. E. Conference at Long Beach closed yesterday, and Glendale's attending pastors have returned. When appointments for the new year were read, only one change was made for this city. F. Marion Smith, former pastor of the Central Avenue church, is attending the Boston School of Theology, and the new pastor for Glendale is Rev. W. Hunter Brink, who has been serving a pastorate in Imperial Valley.

When Conference reports were made, the First Methodist church of this city was found to have led all other churches in the district in percentage of increased membership, a net gain of 190 members having been made for the year. The pastor of this church, Rev. C. M. Crist, was honored with two important offices for this year, being elected as chairman of the commission to further the interests of McClay College of Theology, and act in conference with the Board of Trustees of U. S. C., in behalf of the theological department; he was also elected a member of the Board of Directors of the Gardena Spanish Industrial School. Mrs. Crist was elected president of the Ministers' Wives' Association of the Southern Conference, an organization of over 200 members.

As a result of the Centenary movement, this Conference broke all previous records in many respects. Foreign Missions had been donated over $192,000, and Home Missions nearly $180,000. The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Conference gave $105,000 besides the above amounts.

Guests From Denver

Mr. and Mrs. T. Thornton Weedman of Denver, Colo., are expected to arrive in Glendale the latter part of this week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Otto Nelson and Mrs. Vellie Woodard of 425 West Harvard. Mrs. Weedman and Mrs. Nelson are daughters of Mrs. Woodard. Mr. Weedman has been connected with the Denver & Rio Grande Railway for many years and both are high up in Masonry. Mrs. Weedman was Worthy Matron of the Denver Eastern Star last year. Both she and her husband have visited in Glendale frequently and have many friends here to welcome them.

Elks Hold Meeting

The regular meeting of B. P. O. E. No. 1289 was held Monday evening at Elks' Club. The names of twenty-five new applicants were read. The Drill Team, thirty-eight strong, reported in readiness for their trip to Sacramento to attend the State Convention. A special train will leave Los Angeles this afternoon, passing Glendale station at 5:15. Two cars of this train have been reserved for the Glendale delegation.

At this meeting it was voted to raise the initiation fee to $50.00.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gist of 325 Pioneer Drive expect to leave Saturday to attend the Masonic Convention in San Francisco.

ANOTHER SHOWER

MRS. WOLBACH ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF MRS. RAY GOOD

Mrs. E. D. Wolbach, 373 Myrtle street, entertained Tuesday afternoon at a shower in compliment to Mrs. Ray Good of Howard street. Her house was decorated in roses, zinnias and dahlias, pink and yellow being the color scheme. Lovely pictures of chubby infants covered the walls, and a handsome bronze stove was the center of attraction Each guest was required to contribute impromptu four-line verses, which caused much merriment. The gifts, which were numerous and beautiful arrived at 3:30 in a huge fancy hat box, delivered by a Western Union messenger boy, to Mrs. Good.

Mrs. Mary Chestnut, mother of Mrs. Wolbach, assisted in entertaining. Refreshments were unusual and delicious; Mrs. Chestnut's famous apple pie was served a la mode.

The guests were Mesdames Bess Lyon, Wilbur Boothby, C. O. Wells, Gus Pulliam, Oscar Belew, Merril Burke, George Pratt, Mary Chestnut, Katherine Fenstermaker and Ray Good, all of Glendale; and Mesdames Catherine Keller, Frank Hilliard and Walker McGinnis of Los Angeles.

ALWAYS TWO SIDES

BOARD OF TRUSTEES TRYING TO DO THEIR BEST FOR THE COMMON GOOD

There are many questions coming up for consideration, in the City of Glendale, upon which it is necessary for the Board of Trustees to take an affirmative or negative stand. These questions for consideration often have two sides. There are many citizens who argue that the Board should support their position, while others argue that it will be a mistake for the Board to support the question up for consideration.

Every one will agree that it places the Board of Trustees in an embarrassing position, whicheyer way they decide, there is bound to be a faction that will be dissatisfied, and put forth the claim that the Board has been unfair in its decision. That everything may move along in our community in the greatest harmony, the citizens should get together and agree upon some projects that should be carried out, and after coming to an agreement, have a petition prepared and placed before the Board, being sure that the question under consideration has practically the unanimous support of the citizens. The present plan of one faction presenting a proposition which they wish carried out, and the other faction immediately taking the stand that the proposition, so presented, is unworthy of consideration, keeps the Board of Trustees busy on many questions that lead to complexities and cause a lack of unity among the citizens of Glendale.

What is needed in Glendale, at the present time, is harmony upon all questions pertaining to the general good. It is impossible for any community to prosper unless there is business co-operation among the people of the community. Why not have co-operation? Then will come harmony.

Sanitarium Hospital

The first unit of the great Glendale Sanitarium Hospital, located on the north end of the Sanitarium lot, is assuming shape very fast and the beholder can now realize the extent and proportions of this modern building for the care of the sick and suffering. The sheeting is practically all on and will soon be ready for the plaster cement outside coating which will add so much to the exterior appearance. The arrangement of the building so as to provide a maximum of sunlight and fresh air to the patients can be noted now and it makes one feel proud that Glendale is to have such an up-to-date institution to care for the sick and succor the wounded and afflicted ones.

MRS. SANFORD DEAD

PASSES AWAY AT HOME OF ONLY DAUGHTER, MRS. W. G. DIXON

Mrs. Emma Alexander Sanford died of cancer at the home of her only daughter, Mrs. Wm. Galen Dixon, 1245 Boynton street, Glendale, at 12:10 a. m., Wednesday, Oct. 6th. She was 59 years of age and a native of Earlville, Ill. Funeral services will be held Friday, Oct. 8th, 2 p. m., in the Little Church of the Flowers, Rev. O. P. Rider officiating and the L. G. Scovern Co. in charge. Interment will be in Forest Lawn.

Mrs. Dixon came to Glendale last April from her home in Bishop, accompanied by her youngest son, William, aged 17, who is now a student in Glendale High. She made her home with the daughter, Mrs. Dixon. Her brother, W. R. Alexander, who lives at 1214 South Maryland, and his wife, were with her frequently to cheer her in the time of suffering. She is survived by three other sons, Stephen, Albert and Harry, all living at Bishop, and they have been with her during the past two weeks, constantly, and paid her frequent visits before her condition became so serious.

Palace Grand Lights

With a powerful reflector behind them giving the appearance of a fixed searchlight two flood electric lights, with a candlepower of 1000 watts each, now pour their beams across Brand from the cornice of the Central Hotel building and strikingly illuminate the front of the Palace Grand theater, glistening in its new coat of white paint. The effect is novel and unusual.

BROOKLYN WINS SECOND GAME OF SERIES

LARGE CROWD SEES BROOKLYN DODGERS EVEN UP THE SERIES WITH CLEVELAND INDIANS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BROOKLYN, Oct. 6.—The Cleveland Indians today succumbed to the same poison that was laid out for the Robins yesterday.

Spitball pitching, par excellence, which Coveleskie put into the potion of the National League champions in the opening game yesterday was served back today and Brooklyn evened up the account with a score of 3 to 1.

Burleigh Grimes held the American Leaguers to seven hits. Only one time were the Cleveland Indians able to drive out more than one safety.

Just as Coveleskie made the Brooklyn bats useless yesterday, Grimes used the same tactcs to baffle the Indians and breezed through without danger to himself up to the eighth inning when he walked three batsmen.

Brooklyn scored one run in the first inning, single by Johnson and a double by Wheat. Again in the third inning, single by Johnson, and a double by Griffith. She got another in the fifth, singles by Olsen and Griffith.

Bagby was taken out of the box in the seventh inning, replaced by a pinch hitter. Ewell then went on the mound for Cleveland. Speaker and Griffith each got two hits.

The final score was:

Cleveland	0	7	1
Brooklyn	3	7	0

Batteries: Bagby, Ewell and O'Neill; Grimes and Miller.

PEACE TO BE SIGNED FRIDAY

REPORTS SAY RUSSIAN AND POLISH COMMISSIONERS HAVE COME TO AGREEMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Russian troops stormed the Polish advance and made important gains according to a Moscow wireless report. Moscow headquarters admitted that the Polish advance continues easterly of the river Neiman.

Peace between the Poles and Russians will be made Friday according to reports from Riga which state that an armistice and preliminary peace terms will be signed then.

Adolph Zoffe, head of the Russian commission and Jan Domski, Polish commissioner, have reached an agreement in private conversation, according to reports.

TRANS-PACIFIC COMMUNICATION

NIPPONESE G OVERNMENT WOULD HAVE CHARGE OF CABLE BETWEEN JAPAN AND U. S.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Japanese efforts to control a proposed trans-Pacific cable between Japan and the United States were brought to light today.

Proposals were made some time ago with the approval of Japan for laying such a cable to be controlled by the Japanese government. This feature was rejected by the American State Department.

These plans are considered significant since the meeting of five great powers will be held here Friday in the International Communication Conference. It is believed that Japan will modify her plans.

BROTHER VISITS MAC SWINEY

CORK MAYOR ON HUNGER STRIKE OVERJOYED ON THE ARRIVAL OF RELATIVE FROM U. S.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, was overcome with joy with the arrival of his brother, Peter MacSwiney from New York today, at the beginning of the fifty-fifth day of his hunger strike.

Peter MacSwiney is a Brooklyn shoe cutter. His arrival was unannounced. He had not seen his brother Terence for twenty years.

CONSIDER TAX AMENDMENT

DISCUSSION OF PROPOSED TAX FEATURES TODAY'S MEETING OF LABOR CONFERENCE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 6.—Two resolutions, one for and the other against the proposed state one and one-tenth mills tax for the University of California featured the third day of the State Labor Federation convention here today.

George Tracy sponsored the resolution for the proposed tax.

FUELSCHERS' TRIP

THEY TRAVEL 3000 MILES IN AUTO, VISIT OLD HOME SCENES

A. H. Fuelscher and family of 118 North Orange street, who have just returned from a two months' motor trip to Denver and other places of interest, have had a most interesting trip. They were eleven days on the journey to Denver, going over the Santa Fe Trail, and experiencing a good deal of car trouble en route. They found California roads very good except in the desert, but Arizona roads were terrible, and those in Colorado and New Mexico only fair. They camped out every night except two, and enjoyed that part of the trip most of all; the only time their camping arrangements were disturbed was when they ran out of supplies and went through two towns where no groceries were available. Coffee alone made a slim dinner, and they were thankful to reach a hotel in the third town the next morning.

Mr. Fuelscher's old home is near Holyoke, Colorado, and they visited two of his sisters there whom he had not seen in twenty-five years. In Central City, Mrs. Fuelscher's girlhood home, she renewed acquaintance with old schoolmates. They spent ten days in Denver visiting old friends, and about three weeks in Holyoke and vicinity.

In Needles, the heat was so severe that Mrs. Fuelscher and her elder daughter had fainting spells, the temperature being 120 degrees in the shade, and no shade. Then at Gallup, New Mexico, they struck freezing weather, with icicles in evidence. They were interested in passing through Indian villages in New Mexico, and saw great numbers of Indian horsemen in native costume. The longest distance that they found between towns was 92 miles, between Pueblo and Trinidad. The return trip from Denver was made in eight and one-half days, and the last day they covered 221 miles, which was the best tir made on a trip of 3000 miles.

Return to Wyoming

Hon. Perry L. Smith of Rawlins, Wyoming, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. H. E. Van Housen, 1320 North Maryland avenue, during September; also Mrs. Van Housen's niece and her husband, Mrs. and Mr. Tom Reed, of the same place, left a week ago for their home. H. E. Van Housen and wife accompanied their guests as far as Salt Lake City, their old home, and returned this morning after spending a week there.

COMMITTEE MEETS

REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE CONVENES, HEARS REPORTS, PLANS MEETING

Last evening the Republican Central Committee of Glendale met at their headquarters, 114 East Broadway. C. H. Toll presided over the meeting. Reports of the various committees were received. The committee on speakers announced that Senator Harris and Charles F. Van de Water, candidate for congress, would address the citizens of Glendale at a public meeting in the High School auditorium, next Tuesday evening. Senator Harris will confine his remarks exclusively to the enforcement act, which has reference to the 18th amendment and is to be supplementary to the Volstead act.

Walter Barber, who is representing the candidacy of Charles F. Van de Water of Long Beach, for congress, was present, and spoke concerning the plan of Mr. Van de Water's campaign.

R. C. Plume and Owen C. Emery of the Young Men's Republican club, were also present, and reported that the Harding and Coolidge banner had been suspended across the street at the corner of Broadway and Brand Boulevard.

Mrs. Hayward reported that there were many persons registered last Saturday, the work continuing until 12 o'clock, midnight.

New Glendale Residents

J. W. Whitacre and family of Manhattan, Kansas, are newcomers in Glendale. They came from Kansas to Southern California about three months ago and have purchased the lot at 716 East Lomita, where they are erecting a new home. Like many others it was impossible to secure a place to live so they have built a garage and are at home there until the new home is completed.

FRANK JOHNSON

TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS A PRINTER, NOW A GROCER, WANTS TO LIVE IN GLENDALE

Frank Johnson, big, burly and good-natured, for 27 years a printer and now a grocery salesman, wants to live in Glendale and so far has vainly searched for a house that he can afford to rent. He learned the newspaper trade about 35 years ago and soon was able to "stick type" with the best of them. He learned every branch of newspaper work from that of devil to editor. He held cases and did job work in offices of country weeklies as well as city dailies and printed everything from a handbill to a book. When typesetting machines were invented he took kindly to the innovation and learned to be a linotype operator. Seven years ago he deserted the trade and bought a grocery store in Chicago. When he sold out a few months ago he resolved to try California, so preparing a complete camping outfit, he loaded it, his wife and two children into the family auto and started on a leisurely trip from Chicago to the coast, through the northern part of the country, camping out every night except when visiting at different points. Seventeen days were spent in Boise, Idaho, and then Washington and Oregon were crossed and California traversed until Santa Ana was reached. Here lives a sister of Mr. Johnson and after a few days' visit with her Mr. Johnson left his wife and children there and set out in the auto for Glendale, where he at once went to work in Chaffee's Grocery, bunning out with the good old camping outfit. And he likes Glendale so well that he wants to bring his wife and children here to live. And so he is industriously hunting for a house and advertising for one.

Rebekahs Meet

Carnation Rebekah Lodge held its regular meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall Tuesday evening. Besides the regular members, there were visitors from Massachusetts, Oklahoma and Los Angeles. Mrs. Hortense Lund, Noble Grand, presided over the meeting. Among the Los Angeles visitors were Mrs. Viola Grant, District Deputy President, and Mrs. Della House, Deputy Grand Marshal of this District. All gave interesting talks on the good accomplished by the order. At the close of the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed, dainty refreshments being served in the banquet hall.

Illinoisans to Visit Here

Dr. J. D. Camerer of 311 West Garfield avenue says he has had recent word from four old neighbors, retired farmers, of his native town, Kinmundy, Illinois, that they are coming to California soon, with Glendale as the first place to visit when they get here. Letters received the past few days tell of cold rains and sleet, with early killing frosts, indicating an early winter, and this tends to hasten the departure of those who have made their plans to visit California this winter.

FRIENDS GONE

DONALD HUGHES COMES FROM IDAHO TO VISIT FAMILY. CAN'T FIND THEM

Donald Hughes of Glen's Ferry, Idaho, arrived in Glendale yesterday to visit old friends and former townsmen, but is unable to find them. They are Dr. W. C. Minier and family, who left Glen's Ferry last November to come to Glendale. Donald has corresponded with them regularly since then, directing his letters to the address given him, 336 West Colorado, Glendale, and getting replies dated from that address. His last reply was received a month ago, he says. When he arrived in Glendale and went to that address, expecting to be greeted by his old friends, he found strangers there, who had lived in the house for more than four months and had never heard of the Miniers. Inquiries of people living in the neighborhood failed to reveal any knowledge of the family. Donald is wondering how his letters could have apparently gone so regularly to the address named and elicited replies dated at the same address. And the worst part of it all is that he is a stranger in a strange city, unable to find friends whom he confidently expected would be his hosts.

ALASKA TO CHILE

W. C. TAYLOR, MINING ENGINEER, HAS WORKED IN MANY COUNTRIES

When, in 1907, W. C. Taylor, mining engineer, was summoned from his work in the gold fields of British Columbia to take charge of the La Colorado and other mines in Sonora, Mexico, he sent his young wife to spend some months with relatives in Seward, Alaska, while he went on down to Mexico to get started in his work and prepare a home for her. In Seward their first child, Lucile, was born and when able to travel the mother and babe took the long journey to join the husband and father. All went well and Mr. Taylor greeted his wife and new daughter and installed them in a pleasant home near his work. But troublous times came and resolution followed resolution, with Madera, Huerta and Carranza successively as president. The second daughter, Violet, was born in Mexico, in 1911.

In 1916 Mr. Taylor was given employment by the American Smelting & Refining Co. and ordered to Chili to take charge of some copper mines at Calara, one hour's ride by railway from Valparaiso, the main seaport. He took his family there with him and for three and a half years they lived very pleasantly in that land where everything is so like old Spain. The Chilianos are the dominant people of South America's west coast and are quite up-to-date in their manner of living, their business and their schools. They buy most of their supplies from England, sending their wool over there and getting it back in clothes and suits and dresses. American goods cannot make much headway against European because of higher prices owing to the better wages paid by American manufacturers.

Tiring of the life there, finally, the Taylors decided to return to the States, so they took passage in a ship bound for New York, hoping to be able to transfer to an up-coast steamer at Panama and come directly to Los Angeles. But none being available they continued on to New York and then came across the continent by rail. They arrived in Los Angeles last week and Mr. Taylor began at once to look around for a home where he could leave the wife and children while he goes down to Mexico to do mining engineering. He was attracted to Glendale and soon bought the J. E. Mercer place at 118 North Cedar. They are now moving in.

Mr. Taylor greatly loves his profession and has worked as an engineer in gold, copper, iron, zinc and silver mines.

Don't Repeat Mistakes

Don't think that because you have made a mistake you are a fool. And don't find fault with a man because he has made a mistake. The fool is the chap who makes the same mistake the second time. Let me tell a story of my own experience with Mr. Carnegie as showing what this might mean.

As a chief engineer of the works, I wanted to build a converting mill. I went to Mr. Carnegie and said: "If you give me the money to build this mill I can save 50 cents a ton." Of course, he provided the money, and the mill was built. He came out to see it. I walked around with him. He saw the look of disappointment in my face and said, "Charlie, what is it?" I replied: "It is exactly what I told you; it is even better than I told you. We save more than I said. But I don't mind saying that if I had it to do over again I would do it differently. I made a mistake in certain particulars."

"Can you change it?" he asked.

"No," I answered.

"What does it mean?" he asked.

"It means tearing it down and doing it over again."

"Go ahead and do it," said Mr. Carnegie. "Don't make the same mistake a second time."—Charles M. Schwab in People's Magazine.

Oldest Woman Voter

LAWTON, Okla., Oct. 6. (United Press.)—Woman suffrage was received with no more delight by any woman in the state than by Mrs. Elizabeth Davison, Lake township, Comanche County, who is probably the oldest voter in the state of Oklahoma, and probably in the United States. Mrs. Davison who is 110 years old, registered for the first time at the registration preceding the recent primary.

"Grandma" Davison, as she is better known, is taking an active interest in politics, especially in the candidacy of Elmer Thomas, candidate for congress from the sixth district, with whom she has been close friends for many years. "Grandma" Davison lives in the Wichita Mountains a short distance above Medicine Park.

She was born in Scotland in 1810. She came with her parents to the United States and located in Tennessee. Later she moved to Texas and at the opening in 1901, came to Oklahoma to take up a homestead. Mrs. Davison is remarkably active for her age. She registered as a Democrat at the recent registration.

CANDIDATE HAPPY

VAN DE WATER GRATIFIED BY INDORSEMENT OF BISHOP LEONARD

"Of course I am much gratified," said Charles F. Van de Water, Republican candidate for Congress from the Ninth district, this morning, in speaking of the recent indorsement given him by Dr. Adna W. Leonard, Methodist Episcopal bishop. "I suppose any man in my position would feel a certain gratification under such circumstances. I regard our bishop very highly and, of course, I am extremely glad to know he entertains such favorable sentiments toward me. Everybody is glad of the approval of men and women who are really worth while, and, I am free to confess, I am no exception to the rule."

Mr. Van de Water's remarks with respect to Bishop Leonard, who is one of the most widely known churchmen in the entire West, related to a sentiment expressed by the bishop in the course of a speech delivered before the local Rotary club at the Virginia hotel Wednesday. In the course of that speech, Dr. Leonard took occasion to discuss Mr. Van de Water's candidacy for Congress and to give that candidacy his unqualified indorsement.

"I am glad to know that the people of Long Beach have the opportunity of voting for such a man as Mr. Van de Water," said Bishop Leonard. "He is a man of high ideals and high character, a man of unusual ability. We of the Methodist church are proud of him. He is a fine citizen and a splendid Christian man. If I were a voter in this congressional district I should most certainly vote for him; and I should esteem it a privilege to have that opportunity."

Not only Mr. Van de Water, but his hundreds of personal friends in Long Beach naturally are much pleased with this testimonial. It is all the more gratifying because it came as a complete surprise. Mr. Van de Water and Bishop Leonard have long been rather intimately connected in church work and their acquaintance is of several years' standing.—Long Beach Telegram.

Russia's Forests Burned

BY HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Sept. 25. (By Mail.)—Russia's great forests, constituting one of her most valuable resources and one of the world's last great supplies of timber, are being ruthlessly burned to the ground by the Russian peasants in an effort to defeat Bolshevism.

With the necessity of laying in huge stocks of wood and fuel in order to stave off the rigors of the coming winter, the Soviets some time ago gave orders for the cutting down and transportation of huge sections of the Russian forests. The peasants were recruited by force to do the work. This proved the last straw.

To prevent the execution of this order, the peasants have fired the forests and these forest fires are now raging throughout Russia in the most devastating degree. Not only are whole forests being burned to the ground, but scores of villages and thousands of single houses that are in the path of the sweeping forest fires are disappearing in flames.

Detailed news of this action of the peasants has just been received in Paris by M. Kerenski from one of the supporters still remaining in Russia.

The letter which the latter has just sent to Paris reads in part as follows:

"You know probably that Russia is burning. Enormous tracts of timbered land have become the prey of flames and both large and small villages as well as entire quarters of larger cities are likewise disappearing, ravaged by the flames. 'The Red Cock' stalks everywhere, free and gay, from one end of the country to the other. All efforts to fight this scourge remain useless, because the Russian peasant wants to burn and burns deliberately.

"In its despair and in its powerless hate, the entire Russian peasantry has decided to fall back on this antique means of vengeance—'The Red Cock'—against the Bolshevists.

"The hate of the peasants against the present regime has never before attained the intensity that it now has. And it is precisely at the present moment that the Soviets have proposed to prepare the stocks of wood and fuel necessary for heating during the coming winter. They have undertaken a systematic cutting down of the forests in the central and northern departments.

"The peasants burn first the forests, then the villages, and finally abandon completely the districts, emigrating to Siberia.

"To add to this disaster of all the territory between Tambor to the granaries of the Volga (departments of Samard and Saratov) have suffered immensely from drouth.

"Even now the famine is growing daily in the villages and cities and there is nothing with which the people can clothe themselves.

"We understand perfectly the hate that surrounds the present regime. Starving, naked, menaced by death on all sides, epidemics, terror, war, terrorized by the commissaries, we no longer have the force to resist or to defend our honor and our dignity. We exist but we no longer live a human life.

"Moscow is a dead city where there move mere phantoms which seem to have the semblance of life. In the midst of these shadows are to be seen the commissaires of the people, health, well nourished and well clothed."

SOLVING H. C. L. PROBLEM AS FAR AS STUDENTS ARE CONCERNED

The students' cafeteria at the Glendale High School would solve the H. C. L. problem, if whole families were allowed to patronize it regularly, which, of course, they are not, as it is for students and faculty only. Miss Ellen Hanson, domestic science teacher at G. U. H. S., is operating one of the best students' lunch rooms in the country, with well varied menus, the best of food, at the lowest prices. The school furnishes all equipment, there is no rent for rooms, and no profit to raise prices, so the students get lunches for the price of the food, bought at wholesale rates, plus the cost of three kitchen helpers. The result is a well-balanced lunch at from fifteen to twenty cents, or a regular dinner at twenty-five cents, including generous helpings of meat, vegetables, bread, butter and dessert, and all foods are the best that the market affords, scientifically prepared, at from one-half to one-third the usual prices. A typical menu may be of interest to patrons of the school who have not been able to visit the cafeteria:

Beef stew with biscuits, 12 cents.
Vegetable soup, 5 cents.
Sweet potatoes, escalloped potatoes, creamed peas and buttered beets, each, 5 cents.
Fruit, potato, crispy, pineapple and bean salads, each, 8 cents.
Pies, extra large cuts, 10 cents.
Cakes, 8 cents.
Puddings, 8 cents.
Watermelon, 5 cents.
Meat or cheese sandwiches, 5 cents.
Milk, 6 cents.
Ice-cream, 6 cents.

Both the cooking and food are far above the average. The dining rooms both for faculty and the students, are attractive and kept orderly and clean. There is an out-door lunch stand connecting with the kitchen, for boys who want a hurried lunch, which avoids the cafeteria waiting line. The serving is all done by students who are given lunch for their work. Many students from the Sixth Street school come to the cafeteria for lunch. An average of three hundred boys and girls are served daily. It is open to visitors for inspection at any time.

There is no such thing as campaign lies this year—they are merely "expended truth."

Candidates never understand why voters should complain that it is hard to find good men for office.

FOUR hundred thousand of the finest hens in America—four hundred thousand noted egg producers—flourish on P. C. A. Dry Mash.
There was a big, vital reason back of the preparation of P. C. A. Dry Mash and the same reason explains its success. Practical poultrymen found that proper feeding of this carefully tested ration brought results that paid handsomely. Further tests were made—and from scientific blending then resulted P. C. A. Dry Mash—a feed that increases the laying capacity of hens and builds up the health and breeding ability of the stock. Its constant use by the leading poultrymen of Southern California is thus fully accounted for.
Use Buttermilk to Condition Your Stock
We sell Lactein and also buttermilk in semi-solid form that will tone up your flock, put them in vigorous condition for heavy production later. We can also furnish mash buttermilk. Many stock raisers favor this for its fine results with hogs.

Hold Fast to Policy

Only two of 12 former service men who were killed in the explosion in Wall Street had retained their government war risk insurance after being discharged. Tragedy is required, sometimes, to point out our desperate carelessness. We become accustomed to taking chances; we become accustomed to "getting away with it." In the hour of disaster our negligence arises to rebuke us.

Not one of those ten veterans whose lives were snuffed out so quickly and unexpectedly would have let his insurance policy lapse could he have foreseen his tragic end. Ten out of 12 took a chance. Ten out of 12 lost.

There is a lesson in this for those who are tempted from time to time to drop their policies of government life insurance. To every man the moral is plain: Hold fast to that policy.

New Industries

Announcement a few days ago by an authority that 800 rare chemicals for the supply of which we had depended on Germany prior to the war, are now produced in this country shows one of the effects forced on this nation by the interruption of commerce. Our chemists were driven to research and the result shows that we paid tribute to Germany for that which we could have produced ourselves long before the war had we set ourselves to the task. Thus we have the chemicals and the money too, in contrast with the former conditions where we got the goods, but Germany got the money.

While this condition as regards the chemical supply is not due to a protective tariff it has been brought about in the same way. The stoppage of commerce with Germany acted as a prohibitive tariff on all German-made goods. We could have reached the same result years sooner had we legislated in a way to encourage our chemists to develop our own resources of supply. We permitted Germany to retain a monopoly of dye production until we had to develop our own.

We in the early days of the war realized keenly our folly in neglecting the promotion of our own interests by making our own interests within our nation as nearly self-contained as possible. Many of the difficulties were remedied by American invention and discovery, but it is now necessary to hold on to what we gained. We may easily destroy new industries by carelessness now. When the international commerce is fully restored Germany will make an attempt to regain her position as a manufacturer of chemicals and dyes, and she will not be scrupulous about her methods.

To protect our own and thwart her unfair designs is no minor reason for the election of a Republican president and a Republican congress. The Republican party alone has stood for American industry against the world and in the reconstruction it is more than ever important that American industries should be in the hands of their friends.

A man is remarkably similar to a nail—he may be sharp, but unless he has a dependable head he is quite sure to fail in an emergency.

At this season a lot more attention is being paid to the football qualifications of college students than to their promises of scholarship.

Ball Room Dance Class

By popular request Miss Edith Lindsay, Glendale's artistic teacher of the dance, is to open a very special class in ball-room dancing. Miss Lindsay has had many requests for such a class each season. This season, her fifth in Glendale, the requests have become demands and she is pleased to gratify them by holding a class where authentic ball-room dancing will be taught with special attention to ball-room etiquette. All of the new smart steps will be given. This class will be held at a most convenient hour for all boys and girls of school age. Saturday mornings at eleven o'clock, I. O. O. F. hall, 111-A East Broadway, beginning October sixteenth. Prospective pupils may enroll with the secretary between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. Saturday, October ninth, or on Saturday, October sixteenth, before eleven o'clock.

This class will in no way interfere with her regular class in fancy dancing which is held every Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Many of Miss Lindsay's pupils are now following professional careers. The Cartwright children, little "Peggy" of the screen and her brother Dick are filling an engagement in Canada. Thelma Daniels, Georgia French, Raida Schumaker, Mary Pronell and Carmen de Lara, Marylouise Larkin and Francis Dexter are to be heard from shortly.

Volcanic Steam Power

In 1905 Prince Ginori Conti, general director of the Larderello works at Larderello, Italy, decided to experiment with the natural steam springs of Larderello for obtaining motive power. His experiments were so successful that the company built a large power station at Larderello with three units of 2500 kilowatts each. The work, says the Illustrated London News, was begun in 1914, but was delayed by the European war. The first unit was started in 1916, and the power station was completed in the same year. Four overhead lines at 36,000 volts carry electric current to Siena, Leghorn, Piombina and Massa. The holes bored to the natural steam pockets, which vary in depth from 198 feet to 495 feet, are lined with iron tubing, sixteen inches in diameter. The steam is cleared of gas before it is carried to the turbine generators.

TRYING PANACEA OF WORK

German confidence in generalization is unshaken and trust in obedience to all demands of generalization when undertaken in the interest of national prosperity is as firm under the republic as when the Hohenzollerns gave orders. Democratic Germany has substituted universal work service for universal military service for all within the former military age and expects a more willing response, although the history of compulsory labor does not contain much that is encouraging.

The idea of the ministry of economics is that if Germans between certain ages were willing to give a certain number of years to arbitrary military service, from which they gathered nothing but promises, they should be more willing to contribute one year's work service, the results of which the ministry believes cannot fail to be beneficial to individual citizens and national welfare.

Except for the difference in actual occupation the law proposed by the ministry, for which approval by the reichstag will be asked, is somewhat similar in its conditions to the old military service law. For one full year all citizens between certain ages are to be subject to work service at whatever occupation assigned by official judgment.

The scheme is the first of the preparatory steps for the complete reconstruction of Germany in which every able-bodied citizen is expected to co-operate. Whether the law will include women has not been determined, but in view of the shortage of male labor power it is possible. Germany is one of the few countries in which such a plan may be tried with any hope of success and results will not be without strong interest for all nations.

LOOKING FOR SOLUTIONS

The financial conference at Brussels is one of the events to which all Europe is directing serious attention.

Although the best financial intelligence in the world is meeting in the Belgian capital there is more or less frank skepticism as to the prospects of an outcome that will contribute promptly and substantially to the restoration of a staggering continent. Among the suggestions for a program that is promised to guarantee the rehabilitation of Europe are plans for the arbitrary reduction of the face value of inflated currency to bring it into harmony with gold value; an international clearing house for foreign trade; an international loan to stabilize exchange and reduce floating debts.

Unfortunately for the needs of several nations these suggestions are subject to several interpretations according to stressful necessities and quite inevitably these interpretations do not agree so far as forecasts of practical results are concerned.

The conflict of national interests is as much in play as during the war upon a different footing, but none the less insistent. German finances hold a foremost place in all discussions since conditions in other countries hinge sharply upon German operations and singularly the German delegates arrived at Brussels with a program of complete silence. They say they have nothing to offer—they expect only to listen, obviously a policy that does not fit into the spirit of the conference which is to do whatever possible for the rebuilding of Europe, even to the extent of modifying terms already under acceptance but unworked.

The international loan proposal is one which has already received attention and without finding favor in the United States, where the bulk of the money must come from to insure success. The outlook is not without prospects, but more than a minimum of optimism might be out of place.

H. W. Boring and wife, who came to Glendale about three weeks ago from Kansas City and have been staying with Dr. Cable since that time, have purchased property at 410 West Maple street and take possession this week.

Chester street, to extend south from Doran to Milford, which has heretofore been merely a name, has now been opened through and the first house to be started on it is that of Mrs. Emma Linden, of 3 rooms, at No. 333, to cost $500.

The funeral of Rev. Wieman, killed in an auto accident near his home in Tujunga, Sunday afternoon, will be held in the community hall at Tujunga tomorrow, 2 p. m., Rev. Kenyon Coyle of Alhambra officiating and Pulliam & Kiefer in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Mathiesen, who recently sold their home at 218 W. Windsor Road and have since been living in the garage at the home of their daughter, Mrs. H. S. Clewett, will move tomorrow into the home they bought at 721 East Windsor Road.

W. H. Ward and wife have sold their home at 1234 East Broadway and bought a lot at 110 North Belmont. They have let the contract for a modern five-room house and two-room garage. They will live in the garage until the house is completed.

The funeral of Edgar T. Snyder, whose body was brought here Monday from Maricopa Springs, where he died very suddenly, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Little Church of the Flowers, Rev. C. A. Cole officiating and Pulliam & Kiefer in charge.

The large administration building which is being built at Thornycroft under the supervision of W. L. Truitt, is nearing completion. It has a plastered exterior and is two full stories in height. It will be used entirely for the home and offices of the managers and as a general dining room.

D. D. Haines of 323 West Wilson avenue and his son, Walter, of 212 West Lomita avenue, sent back East quite a number of copies of the Evening News Tractor Show week issues and have been hearing from them lately in terms of wonder and admiration over Glendale's wonderful growth. The column of "Glendale Statistics" excited special interest and the manager of the Haines Panoramic Views plant at Conneaut, Ohio, the parent of their growing plant in Glendale, wrote them: "You certainly picked the right town when you decided to locate in California."

Mr. and Mrs. F. Ainsworth of Minneapolis, Minn., have come to spend the winter with their sisters, Mrs. M. J. Brooks and Miss Ainsworth, 403 North Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Pearson, 722 East Lomita avenue, had as their dinner guests last evening Mr. and Mrs. George Swink of Brawley, who are on their way to Turlock to be connected with Mr. Pearson's fruit shipping business there.

Next Sunday will be the 17th anniversary of the First Methodist church. Its founder, Rev. C. R. Norton, 801 East Wilson avenue, will deliver a retrospective address on the history and growth of the church and Rev. C. M. Crist will talk on its present condition and future prospects.

Great interest is being taken in world series games between the Brooklyn and Cleveland baseball teams by Glendale lovers of the game. The complete score of each game is received by the Evening News by noon. The fact that each team has now one game, and by the same score, 3 to 1, will greatly stimulate interest in the series.

Mrs. M. J. Brennan, 519 North Central avenue, who has been in Chicago with her husband for the past month, is expected home Saturday. She will be accompanied by her sister, Miss Nona Kelly. Mr. Brennan will not return until later. They write that it has been extremely hot in Chicago, and they are anxious to get back to Glendale.

John Richardson of 525 South Central avenue who is attending school at Mount Tamalpais Military Academy, San Rafael, writes that his brother Paul visited him last week-end from Stanford University. Saturday his school won a football game by a score of 13 to 6 over Berkeley High, and he described their celebration of the event with much enthusiasm.

At 605 West Lexington Drive, just west of Kenilworth avenue, E. H. Hilton is building a four-room house and a garage, to cost $2500. This street is eventually to be extended to San Fernando Road, and is building up far out in anticipation of that time, which probably is not far distant, Myrtle, California avenue, Salem and Wilson avenue are also to be thus extended.

The Glendale grocery stores are following the wholesale price reductions very closely and more than once have taken losses, particularly on sugar, in adjusting their retail prices to meet the wholesale cut. Flour, also, has had a downward trend of late, and our dealers have quickly adjusted their prices to conform. Continued wholesale price reductions make it very hard for retail dealers to avoid losses.

T. F. Higgins and wife, who recently sold their home at 1101 East Wilson avenue are rapidly selling off their surplus furniture and their chickens, preparatory to moving to San Francisco the latter part of November to stay long enough to sell their 14-room house there, when they expect to return to Glendale to live. Mr. Higgins says the ads in the Evening News have brought many buyers for their furniture.

State to Acquire Lands

The question of what will be done with strictly forest lands in California after the timber has once been logged will be a subject for consideration by the next legislature according to a recent decision of the State Board of Forestry. It is pointed out that because of the long time required to bring forest trees to commercial size private interests engaged in logging virgin timber cannot be expected to be interested in the growing of new forests.

To bring new forests to commercial size after the present forests have been removed will require protection from fire and the reformation of areas that will not reforest themselves.

For these reasons the State Board of Forestry proposes that the State acquire logged-off lands not best suited for agriculture and proceed in the business of raising trees for the future needs of the people of California. In this connection it is proposed that lands that were logged in such a way as to protect the young timber and leave sufficient trees so that new forests will grow more readily shall receive first consideration for state acquirement.

At the present time there are more than 600,000 acres of logged-off land in California most of which is better suited for growing forest trees than for agricultural purposes.

C. E. RALLY

GLENDALE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS ENJOY GREAT MEETING AT EAGLE ROCK

The Glendale District Christian Endeavorers enjoyed a real treat Tuesday evening when representatives from Burbank, Glendale and Eagle Rock met at the Eagle Rock Presbyterian church to enjoy a rally. After a rousing song service led by Roy E. Creighton, former State Field Secretary, our State Field Secretary, Paul C. Brown, conducted the devotionals. Ralph Isbell, President of the Los Angeles County C. E. Union, asked that Miss Ethel Preston introduce the new officers of the District, which she did and as the new officers were introduced and asked to stand they received a hearty "hand-clapping" and the assurance that those present would stand by them in the work of the District. Miss Nancy St. Clair, the newly-elected President, responded, giving John 15:16 as the Scripture verse for the District ,after which Ralph Isbell, County President, brought greetings from the Los Angeles County C. E. Union. Mrs. C. C. Stoler, Social Superintendent, sang a solo and after an announcement by Roy Creighton of the monthly testimony and praise service to be held Thursday in Los Angeles, the speaker of the evening, Roy Breg, Southwest District Field Secretary, was introduced. Mr. Breg has charge of the C. E. work in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado and brought a wonderful message. The District feels itself very fortunate to have the opportunity of having Mr. Breg, even for this short time, and those present were benefited by his stirring message. After a song and prayers the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Many were present from Burbank and Glendale and the society having the largest delegation at the rally was awarded the banner, which was carried back to Burbank by the Intermediate C. E. Society.

How Rumors Cling

The most important part of a newspaper's work is establishing the truth of reports before printing them as news. A surprisingly large percentage of the reports or "tips" that find their way to newspaper offices, are without foundation, but no city editor can risk not investigating them for nothing is impossible and the missing of a big story through failure to follow a "tip" is the capital offense of journalism. Charles E. Chapin, for twenty years city editor of the New York Evening World, in his autobiography recently published by Putnam, gives there two examples of the strange persistency of false news "tips."

"Sometimes tips come in that are untrue, but these are easily exploded by the investigation of experienced reporters. One of the most persistent tips of this character I ever had to do with was connected with the death of a multi-millionaire with presidential aspirations. I was driving past his home on Fifth avenue the day he died and a physician who had just come from his bedside, stopped me to tell of his patient's death. He gave me all the particulars of his illness and I had no reason for doubting his veracity. Yet the following day word came from more than a dozen sources that the millionaire had been shot in his box at the Metropolitan opera house by a jealous husband. Investigation showed that it was untrue, but the rumor spread all over the city and kept reaching me through tipsters long after the man was in his grave.

"A similar rumor was associated with the death of the president of one of the great trust companies, who shot himself at his home a few hours after the trust company closed its doors at the beginning of a financial panic. I knew the man and what prompted self destruction, but tipsters came hurrying to my office the following day to tell that he had been slain by a popular actress. The scandalous rumor was kept alive for a long time in all of the fashionable clubs and was revived and magnified when the actress, whose name was linked with the banker's, killed herself in a southern city. I know as positively as it is possible to know anything one is not an eyewitness to that the actress did not murder him."—Kansas City Star.

Don't Blame the Laundress

If your home were provided with thousands of dollars worth of washing and ironing equipment, if you had always a liberal supply of pure, rain-soft water, if your laundress had a scientific knowledge of soaps, starches, textiles and dyes and if she had steam-heated presses to iron your clothes she might approximate the perfection of the modern laundry service we can give you.

Not having all of these advantages, be on the safe side and send your family bundle to be laundered in the sanitary, clothes-conserving way.

More leisure for you, more contentment for everyone in your household and longer life for your garments are only a few of the benefits our standardized system of clothes cleansing offers you.

PROPOSITION NO. 13

COMMUNITY PROPERTY LAW, TO BE VOTED ON NOV. 2, EXPLAINED

J. H. Rice, president of the Merchants & Manufacturers Association has been investigating the merits, demerits and arguments for and against Ballot Proposition No. 13 otherwise known as the Community Property Law, and which will be voted upon by the California electorate at the general election November 2d.

The result of Mr. Rice's investigations leave very little to the imagination. They were made analytically and without prejudice, and the acid test was applied to the act as a business, social and psychical experiment. In each instance it failed to stand the test, and the conclusion of his investigation, Mr. Rice declared that such an agitation during these times of business uncertainty and industrial unrest is bound to do great damage.

"Business conditions, titles to property and family relations will be disturbed," he said, "The law has been officially disapproved by practically every leading business organization in the state. No woman who has the best business interests of her husband at heart will support it for the proposal is without justification. It is a meddlesome piece of legislation, illy drawn, fraught with legal difficulties, will hurt business and is a distinct step backward. It should be decisively defeated.

Mr. Rice went on to amplify this sweeping denunciation of the bill by reciting a few of its bad features. He recalled that if either the husband or wife dies without a will, the whole community property goes absolutely to the survivor, thus cutting off all children or other heirs of the decedent.

All existing wills are potentially invalidated until the written consent of the other spouse is secured. Such consent will not often be given and more frequently when it is given will be the subject of barter and trade between the husband and wife.

It subjects the husband to an inheritance on half of the community property he may receive from his wife, thus practically forcing him to pay an inheritance tax before he may enjoy his own property.

Upon the death of either husband or wife all community property is taken out of the hands of the survivor and forced through probate court with attendant delays, red tape and expense, and drags into partnership minor children or rank outsiders. No business could survive such a shock, and the inevitable result will be that a married man, upon the death of his wife, will be compelled to wind up his affairs, pay off his debts, divide his property, and start all over again.

"No method is provided in the law," according to Mr. Rice, "for determining whether a person dies testate or intestate, and unless a will were discovered soon after a married woman's death there would be the constant risk that one might come to light years afterward and half of the property taken away from the persons in whom it could be traced. This would cast a cloud over the title and badly affect the marketability of the property of all married people.

"The measure can find no justification except upon the argument that married men are disloyal to their wives and families, and will fail to provide for them. This is an offensive and totally untrue reflection upon the honesty of husbands, for the records show that married men are providing as properly for their wives and children out of their estate as married women could hope to do. In fact, a recent examination of over 500 consecutive estates of married people showed that married men took better care of their children at death, than did married women—a fact that offers conclusive proof why the present law should not be charged.

"Such a law," he continued, "is bound to be a serious jar in the family harmony. It will create a multitude of disturbances, and develop lack of confidence, force property settlements, and in many cases bring about a divorce.

"If married women intend to secure community assets, they must inevitably take half of the community liabilities. This will drive mothers out of the home to earn the bread equally with the husband, and become a grave menace to home and children.

"Desirable and wealthy Easterners will decline to take up their residence in California, and subject their property interests to a law so absurd, grossly offensive, and offering so serious a handicap to the business activities of the husband."

Record Butter Imports

The record for butter imports established in 1919, when 9,519,368 pounds of butter and butter substitutes were brought into the United States, was short lived. Following the recent announcement of these import figures by the United States Department of Agriculture the department has compiled reports for the first seven months of this year which show that the United States during that period imported 22,855,090 pounds of foreign butter, which is more than ever before.

This remarkable increase is attributed by foreign marketing experts of the department's Bureau of Markets largely to the foreign exchange situation. With American dollars commanding a premium throughout the world it is obviously good business for foreign butter manufacturers to sell their product in the United States. Foreign manufacturers also have the advantage of low cargo rates. Another reason for the increased imports is that whereas England was formerly Denmark's principal butter outlet, England can now purchase butter more cheaply from Australia and Argentina. Ireland also is producing butter on a larger scale.

The effect of the exchange situation is also reflected in a decrease of American butter exports. Thus, 15,529,271 pounds of American butter were exported during the first seven months of 1920, whereas 22,986,294 pounds were sent out of the country during the corresponding period of 1919.

Imports of butter from Denmark are being curtailed at present because the prices asked by the holders of Danish butter in storage here are higher than the wholesale prices for the American product, and some difficulty is being experienced in moving the Danish stocks.

"His or Her" in Speech

It will not be long before the rhetoric of the campaign and of the campaign documents will be bristling with the "his or her" phraseology. For in this matter the English language is rather defective, and no true politician, gunning for the woman vote, would depend on the purely masculine pronoun to include all his audience, even if a long range of precedents would sustain him in making the masculine word carry the sense of a universal gender.

Years ago some experimenters suggested that in place of the combersome "his or her" phrase that the word "thon" should be used. So if a stump speaker were referring to the rights of any citizens to his or her participation in public campaigns or to his or her rights to share in public offices, the "his or her" section of the sentence would be replaced by "thon." This naturally uncouth suggestion met with such a chilly reception on the part of those who had their own view as to how the male and female of the species might be referred to a little more elegantly in public utterances that it died an early death. It is unlikely that anyone will have the boldness to advocate the use of "thon" during the present campaign, so if it is felt that courtesy calls for laying the flattering unction of distinction in gender to the female soul every time they are inclusively referred to, it looks as if the old "his or her" style will have to be followed in order to live up to the strict, syntactical precision of an unambiguous reference to man and woman viewed as political entities.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

U. S. AFTER GAMES

AMERICA MUST TRAIN LONG DISTANCE MEN; MAY BE HELD IN LOS ANGELES

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—"America is through. The athletic crown worn so long by the United States is destined for another head in the Olympic games of 1924."

This boast was made in Antwerp by the Finns and the Swedes following the late Olympic contests in which the Americans were overwhelmingly victorious.

The failure of the Americans to "clean up" in track events above the sprints led the foreign experts to draw the conclusion that the new generation of Yankee athletes lack endurance and stamina.

It is a matter of record that the Americans did fail to take any of the distance events with the exception of the 3000-metre team race, won on the last day of the games.

But the conclusion of the European critics that the poor showing was the result of a decline in the physical powers of the new school of American athletes is wrong.

The American distance runners did not sweep the track as did the sprinters, because they had no opportunity to train. The time was so short before the opening of the games, the conditions so disagreeable on their trip to Antwerp and the weather so abominable that they were the victims of unavoidable circumstances. The Swedes and the Finns, whose power was noted in the long distance runs, had the advantage of two weeks in Antwerp previous to the opening of the games during which they were able to use the stadium track daily and get acclimated to the peculiar weather conditions.

It is a fact that America had a harder time to win the 1920 games than she even had before and it is a foregone conclusion that she will have much stiffer opposition in 1924.

Seizing upon the showing made by the American distance men, the foreign nations, especially, Sweden, Finland and England are going to set out to develop new talent in the field and track events in which the Americans were able to make the cleanup that gave them victory.

America's task before the next games will be to develop a new school of distance runners and to find youngsters to take the place of Pat McDonald, Paddy Ryan, Matt McGrath, Dan Ahearn, Mike Devanney, Ted Meredith and some others of the "old school" who showed in the last games that they are through.

England, strong in the running events, will turn her attention to the development of hurdlers and field stars. The Swedes feel the necessity of developing a bunch of good sprinters. The Finns—superstars in the javelin, will set out to develop other field stars and sprinters to help balance a team strong in long distance power.

American athletic officials have already started a campaign to encourage athletics in high schools. Their hope is to have eventually a skilled man in charge of athletics who can discourage young athletes from "burning themselves out" in trying to win every event on the program. The Swedes, under the direction of Ernie Hjertsberg, have gone into "specialization" with the greatest success. They hold up the idea to the youngsters that it is better to excel in one event than to be half-good in a dozen.

The next Olympics probably will be held in Los Angeles. The International Olympic Committee meets in Lucerne next spring and will decide between the California city and Rome, which has been making a strong bid for the games.

Los Angeles seems to be the favorite. The Swedes, Finns, English and French, disgusted with the manner in which the games were conducted in Antwerp, have demanded that the games be given to America, not only because they believe an American city can handle them best but because they are anxious to get the "joy ride" to the Pacific Coast.

Held in America, the next games would not present as many problems for the Americans that would be faced by the necessity of another long trip to a foreign country. The weather conditions in California would be ideal for the Americans, the short trip would insure the good condition of the men and more talent could be made available for final selection.

If the powers directing amateur athletics in the United States can interest young athletes more in the mile, two-mile and the longer events and shatter the idea that a sprinter is the greatest hero on the track much will be done to make a 1914 team better balanced than the one which carried the shield this year.

With such high class coaches in charge of the track squads at all the big universities the outlook is much brighter as American teams of the future will become more and more distinctive collegiate outfits.

America has the talent, has the best system of athletics in the world, the most adept pupils and with a little more attention on the part of the officials in charge of he governing bodies of athletics, there is no need of prying into 1924 in search of dark clouds.

GREAT SHOW COMING

AMERICAN LEGION PROMISES EVENING OF MIRTH AND WONDERMENT

Ever since the members of the local Post of the American Legion planned to give an entertainment for the benefit of the band recently organized by them, which is proving so great an asset to the city, they have been casting about for the very best and most attractive program that could be procured. They finally hit upon a Carnival of Magic, a show of mirth and wonderment. It will be given by selected talent from the Los Angeles Society of Magicians. These people have had years of experience as magicians and some of them have been with the great Hermann, Houdini and others, so the people of Glendale can be assured of a high-class entertainment.

The American Legion deserves well of the general public, not only because it is composed of those who offered their lives so freely on the altar of country and humanity, but because they are now engaged in works of comfort and uplift for those who suffered wounds and disease while battling overseas or training at home for the conflict. And the American Legion band deserves well of the people of Glendale, also, for it is composed of fine musicians who give the best that is in them to this work.

So every citizen will set apart the evening of Tuesday, Oct. 19th, for this great entertainment at the Palace Grand theater.

Many Potatoes Freeze

Of 5,985 cars of potatoes inspected by agents of the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, during the year ended July 1, 1920, more than 2,000 cars showed damage from freezing in transit amounting in some cases to 40 per cent. This loss would not have occurred with the use of proper loading and heating methods, say the bureau's specialists.

Protection from cold depends largely upon a constant circulation of warm air around the load. Heated air from a stove in the center of car rises to the top, spreads along the ceiling between the potatoes and the roof, thence down through open spaces at the ends, then back underneath a false floor coming out at the stove.

Cars should be carefully lined with paper. In box cars, false floors, false side and end walls should be constructed of boards and studding so as to provide for air circulation around the load. In refrigerator cars, false floors should be provided and care should be taken that bunker bulkhead openings are not blocked, either in papering or loading.

Cars should be heated at least six hours before loading. In loading, sacks should not come closer than 8 inches from the ceiling. The potatoes at the floor should be loaded not less than 6 inches from the sides and ends of car.

Complete details regarding the prevention of freezing in transit and proper loading methods can be had upon application to the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Ask for Farmers' Bulletin 1091.

MRS. PEETE TO TESTIFY

TO BE CALLED BEFORE SUPERIOR COURT TODAY IN THE DENTON MURDER CASE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—Mrs. R. C. Peete, the central figure in the Denton murder investigation, was scheduled to testify before the Superior Court today following the issuance of a writ of habeas corpus to release her from "technical custody." Mrs. Peete has been kept in the closest seclusion by attaches of the district attorney's office since her arrival here last Monday.

Deputy District Attorney Doran evaded the service of the writ last night.

WAR'S DISCARDS

The breakup of the Austro-Hungarian empire and the revolution in Russia left half a million war prisoners without a government to care for them. The swift changes in power kept the governments engrossed in problems at home, with little thought to spare for lost war prisoners. Now the pitiful plight of this half million has engaged the attention of humanitarians; the American Red Cross has contributed $1,000,000 and various governmental agencies other sums to equip means for restoring these unfortunates to their homes.

These half million souls, good enough for "cannon fodder" once, captured by the enemy, have been allowed to languish since November, 1918, in alien lands under heartbreaking conditions. These prisoners of war are victims of the war's aftermath. It is a reproach that their repatriation has been so long postponed.
